Does this man know who killed Valerie Leblanc?

Gatineau police release composite sketch of key witness in murder investigation

"Somebody took my daughter's life. She was a real sunshine."
JULIE CHARRON, MOTHER OF MURDER VICTIM VALERIE LEBLANC

Thanks to more than 500 people who came forward with tips, Gatineau police have created a composite sketch of an important witness wanted for questioning in their investigation into the murder of Valerie Leblanc.

Leblanc's beaten and burned body was found on Aug. 23 in a wooded area near the Cegep de l'Outaouais.

At a press conference on Thursday at Gatineau City Hall, officers said the man was in the area at the time of her death, but they have "no proof" he was involved.

Witnesses said the man had an "intimidating and disturbing" look in his eyes, police said.

Leblanc's mother, Julie Charron, pleaded with the public to take a minute to look closely at the sketch to see if it looks like anyone they might know. She also urged people to circulate the sketch through social media so that it reaches as many people as possible.

"As you can imagine, the last few weeks have been very difficult for us and for Valerie's friends," Charron said.

Police are offering a reward of up to $10,000, which was raised by the Sun Youth Organization, for any information that leads to an arrest and conviction in Leblanc's murder.

Police have identified suspects in their parallel investigation into the indignities done to Leblanc's body after her death and referred the case to the Crown attorney's office, which will decide whether charges will be laid.

If you recognize the man in the sketch shown at right, or have other information about Leblanc's murder, contact Gatineau police at 819-243-2346 ext. 6677.

Police stressed that witnesses can remain anonymous and will not be forced to testify at trial. They said people should not hesitate to call if they think they have information, even if it might seem irrelevant.

Friends remember 'fantastic guy'

Ross Angus was a devoted father who was passionate about hockey who left the world a better place, said a close friend on Thursday.

Angus, an elevator mechanic, was found dead at the bottom of an elevator shaft in an unfinished condominium building on Richmond Road at about 10 a.m. on Wednesday morning. Ontario Ministry of Labour is investigating what led to the fall.

Rolf Loyens, Angus' business partner and friend for more than a decade, remembers his friend as someone he was "proud to walk beside every day."

"He was a fantastic guy. He was dedicated to his family, very proud of his children, would do anything for them. It's a very sad loss for them and his other friends and family," said Loyens.

Angus and Loyens ran a business making hockey safety gear. Angus was a minor hockey coach and decided to start the firm after witnessing a hockey player badly injured by a skate blade.

Angus worked for Schindler, a global elevator company.

"We are saddened to learn of the tragic accident," reads a statement the company released. "Our thoughts and prayers are with Ross Angus and his family. The precise cause of the incident is not yet known. The situation is under investigation and it would be inappropriate to comment further. We are providing the authorities our full support and co-operation."

Pumpkin theft suspect gets bail

JOE LOFARO/METRO

Teen charged with manslaughter in Quebec pumpkin theft incident has been released on $2,000 bail

JOE LOFARO
@METRONEWS.CA

A Pontiac teen charged with manslaughter in the death of a man who tried to stop a theft of a pumpkin was granted $2,000 bail Thursday.

Korey Perry, 19, appeared in court Thursday with his defence lawyer, Gerard Larocque. Perry will appear in court again on Nov. 24 to arrange a preliminary hearing.

Perry was initially charged with assault causing bodily harm, but the charge was upgraded to manslaughter after the victim, 57-year-old Paul Hines, died. Hines tried to stop a group of teens from stealing the pumpkin at the IGA on 203 Chemin d'Aylmer on Sept. 29.

Hines was beaten in the incident and died in hospital on Oct. 6.

Larocque said Perry has a curfew to obey as per the regular bail conditions.

He expects the trial to start in late 2012 or early 2013.

CANADA-WIDE WARRANT

Police ask for help from public

Police want the public's help finding Jamie Byron, 22, a man wanted on a Canada-wide arrest warrant on charges relating to trafficking a person under 18.

Police are also asking for public assistance in Toronto, Barrie and Montreal, places Byron is known to frequent.

He is described as five-foot-ten, about 175 pounds, slim and English-speaking.

His charges include keeping a common bawdy house and living off the avails of juvenile prostitution.

Police ask anyone who spots Byron to call 911 immediately.

▶ Jamie Byron

Anyone with information about Byron's whereabouts is asked to call Det. Shane Henderson of the Ottawa Police Service central investigations section at 613-236-1222 ext. 5166 or Crime Stoppers at 613-232-8477.

New home for the Hall

Photos of Ottawa's best athletes will replace images of city's mayors

SEAN MCKIBBON
@METRONEWS.CA

The Ottawa Sports Hall of Fame is getting a new home inside city hall.

"It never had a proper home, basically it was pictures of 243 inductees on a wall of the civic centre and then it moved to Scotiabank place. The only problem was it was so high up the wall you couldn't read the citations of all the great sports heroes" Mayor Jim Watson told Metro on Thursday.

The new hall will open on Nov. 7 on the first floor of the heritage building portion of city hall.

Photos of all of Ottawa's mayors used to hang in that part of city hall, but they've been taken down and replaced with the pictures of hall of famers.

There's also new display cases full of sports memorabilia from the Ottawa Senators and other stars of the sporting world such as Steve Yzerman, Elizabeth Manley, and others.

Watson said the new location has been made possible thanks to a partnership between the City, the Senators and Hall of Fame volunteers.

"We've got Brian Kilrea's coaching jacket and skates, Daniel Alfredsson's jersey and gloves from when he played in the all star game," said Watson rhyming off a litany of heroes.

"It's a chance for us to recognize and thank those sports heroes who have made us proud over the years and to inspire the next generation of athletes and sports builders."

Police retract photo release

Ottawa police said they released an incorrect photo of a victim of an unsolved homicide case when they unveiled a series of new public reward posters last week. Police are offering $50,000 to people who can help them solve six open homicide investigations.

Authorities were contacted by someone on Wednesday who told them the photo they released in relation to the murder of Mohamed Jama Ali in May 2009 was not, in fact, a photo of the victim.

Police reviewed the file and determined that the photo was erroneous. They released a copy of the correct photo of Ali Thursday and said a new reward poster is on its way.

Despite the mixup, police said the announcement of the reward posters resulted in a handful of new tips regarding the six unsolved cases between 2007 and 2010.

▶ Mohamed Jama Ali

Anyone with information in any of these six cases is asked to call the Ottawa Police Service major crime section at 613-236-1222 ext. 5493.

▶ Chair of the Ottawa Hospital Foundation Stephen Greenberg, left, poses with prostate cancer survivor Archie Cogan at a foundation fundraising announcement Thursday.

Cancer technology drive now $2M closer to goal

Hospital Foundation hopes to raise $5 million by Christmas ◐ Needs to buy superior surgical system

JESSICA SMITH
@METRONEWS.CA

When Archie Cogan was diagnosed with prostate cancer, a friend told him his best chance of survival was to go to Detroit and pay $35,000 US to have a surgeon remove it with the help of a robotic tool.

"I spoke to the Ottawa doctors and they said, based on their statistics at that point, they couldn't blame me if I wanted to go to the states," said Cogan.

But soon, Ottawans like him will be able to stay home and get the same advanced surgery at the Ottawa Hospital.

Fundraisers with the Ottawa Hospital Foundation announced Thursday they have raised more than $4 million of the $5 million needed to buy a da Vinci Surgical System — the same tool Cogan's US surgeon used in his successful operation.

The friend who suggested Cogan take the expensive trip to Detroit was fundraising chair of the Ottawa Hospital Foundation, Stephen Greenberg, who had done the same surgery in the U.S. when he was diagnosed with prostate cancer.

Greenberg announced Thursday he is donating $1 million towards the purchase of the da Vinci through his family foundation.

"I'm very happy, it's going to be very beneficial to a lot of people, it's unbelievable," said Cogan.

The Ottawa Regional Cancer Foundation also donated $1 million, on top of the $2 million raised by the Ottawa Hospital Foundation. The da Vinci gives surgeons a magnified view of the area they are operating on with robotic arms controlled by joysticks, which allows for a precise, less-invasive surgery. It is used on 85 per cent of the prostate cancer surgeries in the U.S., and can also be used in many other kinds of surgery.

Stark figures

- 1 in 7 men will develop prostate cancer in their lifetimes.
- 1 in 28 of those diagnosed with prostate cancer will die.

United in protest

- On Saturday, cities around the world will join the Occupy Wall Street movement
- Here's a snapshot of what's happening in Metro cities across Canada

Occupy Vancouver
at Vancouver Art Gallery

"The movement in its core is peaceful," said organizer Min Reyes. "It's not a protest; it's more of a gathering for people to talk and try and figure out how we can change our society."

Occupy Edmonton
at Churchill Square

In a statement, organizers say they are concerned about corporate interests' effect on political institutions and public policy, along with putting profits above the well-being of communities.

Occupy Winnipeg
at Manitoba legislature building

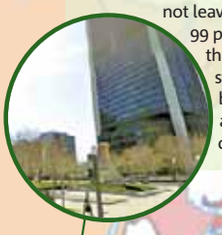
Organizers say the seven-hour walk through the city's banking district is a call to action against corporate greed, corporate control and Third World living conditions in northern communities.

Occupy Halifax
at Grande Parade Square

Members will be taking their message beyond the designated area outside city hall to Halifax's Nocturne festival, set for the same night, said Dylan Sagar, an administrator of Occupy Halifax's Facebook page. Since the group sprung up at the beginning of October, its Facebook page has attracted more than 2,300 likes.

Occupy Montreal
at Square Victoria

"We will not be moved. We will not leave. We are the 99 per cent," reads the group's website. It advises bringing tents and warm clothes.



Occupy Calgary
at Bankers Hall

Organizers have set up a "safe camp" on St. Patrick's Island, which, as of mid-week, had 50 residents and was continuing to grow. Police plan to bring in more officers if necessary, expressing concern anarchists could infiltrate the rally.

Occupy Toronto
at Financial District

Organizers have been haunted by last year's crackdown on G20 protests. In a petition to Toronto Chief Bill Blair, signatories called on police to respect the rights of demonstrators. "The goal is public safety and facilitation of peaceful protest," responded police spokesman Mark Pugash.

Occupy Ottawa
at Confederation Park

"We're hoping that there will be between 500 to 1,000 out and we can actually engage them in the demand-making process. It is very difficult to align everybody's (points of view)," said Kevin Donaghy, one of the lead organizers, who said he himself will be advocating for greater protection of First Nations lands

Forget Twitter. The best way to organize a protest in 826 cities around the world is good, old-fashioned word of mouth.

Facebook and Twitter appear to be outlets for anti-establishment ranting rather than almighty mass-mobilizing tools.

According to Twitter trends aggregators twopular.com and Twitter-Counter.com, #event15october and #globalchange don't feature in the Top 60 global trends of the week.

Meanwhile, the official Facebook page for 15october reveals that there are more people who didn't click on the "attendance" button (338,000) than the would-be demonstrators (some 50,000).

"For these kinds of protests ... it is ultimately up to people to tell their friends to go," said social-media analyst Andrew Girdwood.

Suspected gunman escalates dispute

Unidentified man stops by Air Canada executive's home with what appeared to be a hand gun Labour Minister Lisa Raitt closes office after receiving threats

The labour dispute between Air Canada and its flight attendants has taken a menacing turn after a suspected gunman made a late-night appearance near an airline executive's home and the federal labour minister closed her office after receiving threats.

Police are investigating after a man showed up near Air Canada executive Duncan Dee's Ottawa home Wednesday evening with what appeared to be a handgun.

A police spokesman says the man drove up to a private security guard outside Dee's house and showed him what looked like a gun before driving away.

"We responded to a call in that area at around 11:20 last night when a private security guard saw a suspicious male in the area," Const. Marc Soucy told The Canadian Press.

Soucy added that "Nothing was ever said that he was going to kill anybody or do harm to anyone."

Dee is the airline's executive vice president and chief operating officer.

He has been Air Canada's main spokesman during the airline's contract dispute with the union representing its 6,800 flight attendants.

Air Canada was not immediately available for comment.

Salvage of stricken ship resumes in N.Z.

Good weather gives hope to crews looking to remove oil The Rena ran aground Oct. 5 on Astrolabe Reef

The calmest weather in days gave salvage crews hope they would be able on Friday to resume pumping the remaining fuel from a cargo ship stuck on a New Zealand reef.

The ship Rena has already spilled hundreds of tons of oil, and crews are in a race against nature to try and remove the remaining fuel before waves break up the vessel, which has begun to crack apart and is leaning on a 22-degree tilt.

Last week crews removed about nine metric tons of oil before the weather forced them to postpone salvage attempts.

Environmentalists have warned of a disaster for wildlife if all the ship's 1,700 tonnes of oil and 200 tonnes of diesel is allowed to spill into the ocean.

Nick Bohm, a spokesman for Maritime New Zealand, which is managing the emergency response, told The Associated Press Friday that crews are "relatively positive" they can proceed with plans to board the vessel and begin pumping oil to a nearby barge. He said pumping should begin Friday afternoon in an operation that could last several days.

Bohm said there are stronger winds forecast for the weekend, which may hamper the operation.

Charges laid

- The ship's 44-year-old Filipino captain was charged Wednesday with operating a vessel in a manner causing unnecessary danger or risk and was released on bail Wednesday at Tauranga District Court.
- The ship's second officer appeared in the same court Thursday on the same charge.
- If convicted, each could face a fine of up to 10,000 New Zealand dollars ($7,800) and 12 months in prison.
- Their next court appearance is Oct. 19, when authorities say more charges are likely.

Oregon surfer says he stood on shark

Doug Niblack was trying to catch another wave before going to work, when his longboard hit something hard as rock off the Oregon Coast and he suddenly found himself standing on the back of a thrashing great white shark.

Looking down, he could see a dorsal fin in front of his feet as he stood on what he described as three metres of back as wide as his surfboard and as black as his own Neoprene wetsuit. A tail thrashed back and forth and the water churned around him as if a depth charge had gone off.

"It was pretty terrifying just seeing the shape emerge out of nothing and just being under me," he told The Associated Press on Wednesday. "And the fin coming out of the water. It was just like the movies."

FPS games dumb the brain: Study

Shooter images change our view of violence: Experts

KARIN WASTESON
OTTAWA@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS

Your mother warned you: Rough-and-tough video games may make you laugh off violence in real life.

Now new scientific research into first-person shooter games confirms that they do change how we regard gruesome acts of violence.

Psychologists and neurologists in a University of Bonn study discovered that brain-activity patterns in heavy gamers radically differ from those of non-gamers.

The German researchers analyzed the effect on the brain of images from first-person shooter games — in which the player experiences the action through the eyes of the shooter.

Those gamers chosen for the study played first-person shooter games for 15 hours a week on average, while the control group had no experience of violent video games.

The experts scanned the brain activity of gamers and non-gamers while showing harrowing and gruesome shots of accident and disaster victims.

Both groups responded with similarly strong emotions, but the frontal lobes that control fear or aggression were less activated in gamers.

"Both groups reacted strongly to the photos," says Dr Christian Montag, lead author of the study.

"But while the control group down-regulates their feelings, the gamers do not need to down-regulate because their initial response was not as high.

Montag added: "(First-person-shooter players) do not respond as strongly to the real, negative-image material because they are used to it from their daily computer activities."

Fat Britain must trim 5 billion calories

British health officials say the country's obesity epidemic has an easy fix: people should just eat less.

The department of health said Thursday most adults in the nation of 60 million people are eating about 10 per cent more calories than necessary.

To stop the bulging waistlines, officials said, the country needs to collectively trim five billion calories from its daily diet.

But in a slightly confusing twist, the government also issued new calorie recommendations that are about 100 calories higher than the last figures in 1991.

Men are now allowed to eat about 2,605 calories of food every day while for women, it's 2,079.

Chow urges free prostate cancer testing across Canada

Layton was tested yearly, Chow tells conference in Halifax

Olivia Chow spoke of Jack Layton's inspiring "hope" and "courage" at a prostate cancer luncheon in Halifax Thursday.

More than 200 people sporting Prostate Cancer Canada's signature blue striped ties, hats and handkerchiefs packed the room at Halifax Marriott Harbourfront Hotel for an the annual Leaders' Conference.

"He felt very blessed to have the opportunity to speak out about prostate cancer, and to do so with a national stage — something he knew would help other men," Chow told delegates of her late husband and former federal NDP leader, who passed away in late August.

▶ MP Olivia Chow speaks in Halifax yesterday.

Chow, the MP for Trinity-Spadina, applauded Nova Scotia's free prostate specific antigen (PSA) blood testing program, the test that detects the cancer, and spoke of the need for the same system country-wide.

Chow garnered multiple standing ovations from the attentive crowd, and sparked more than a few eruptions of laughter.

"We have a team of New Democratics determined to grow the best mustaches in town, and we call them our 'New Dem-MO-cratics,'" she said, referring to next month's Movember fundraiser that raises money for men's health.

All jokes aside, Chow said she hopes to help make this the best Movember in Canada's history, and believes the legacy of her husband's prominent and recognizable mustache will encourage that.

When asked by an audience member the reasoning for concealing the illness that took Layton's life, Chow said, "he didn't want people to lose hope if they had that kind of cancer."

Every day 27 Canadians are diagnosed with a brain tumour.

Symptoms can include:

- Blurred or double vision
- Weakness
- Personality changes
- Morning nausea and vomiting

Union actions unfair: Air Canada

Labour unions accuse Harper government of 'trampling' workers' rights

J.P. MOCZULSKI/THE CANADIAN PRESS

▶ Air Canada flight attendants and their supporters protest outside Federal Labour Minister Lisa Raitt's constituency office in Milton, Ont., on Thursday.

Air Canada demanded compensation Thursday from the union representing its 6,800 flight attendants, accusing it of bargaining in bad faith.

The airline, which did not specify how much it was seeking, said the Canadian Union of Public Employees did not do enough to encourage the ratification of two tentative deals that were negotiated but later rejected.

In the unfair labour practice complaint to the Canada Industrial Relations Board, Air Canada accused the union of increasing its demands during its latest round of bargaining and misrepresenting what its members would accept.

"CUPE made these representations to Air Canada without having conducted any formal surveys of its membership," the airline said.

Jeff Taylor, president of the Air Canada component at CUPE, said he believed the deal reached with the airline, under the threat of back-to-work legislation, was the best one possible.

"We had a great deal, but under the circumstances we were bargaining under, with the legislation hanging over our heads, realistically here we are," Taylor said. "My members clearly said it still wasn't enough and they have the right to do that and I respect them for that." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ongoing dispute

- The union cancelled the strike Wednesday after dispute was referred to the CIRB, effectively quashing the job action.
- More than 100 flight attendants continued to protest at Montreal's airport Thursday.
- Workers are angry about the airline's plans for a discount carrier that would require lower wages for new hires and the company's position on pensions and other work issues.

Buffett to show taxes?

Warren Buffett is bringing his fight to raise taxes on the super-wealthy to Congress' deficit-reduction supercommittee.

In an exchange of letters between the billionaire investor and a Republican congressman that Buffett sent the committee this week, Buffett is offering to release his federal tax returns — with a condition.

"If you could get other ultra-rich Americans to publish their returns along with mine, that would be very useful to the tax dialogue and intelligent reform," Buffett wrote.

The letters were among several sent in recent days to the special bipartisan panel created this summer to find ways to reduce the mushrooming national debt by at least $1.2 trillion over the coming decade.

The same law that produced the supercommittee gave Congress' regular committees until Friday to submit suggestions for erasing red ink. Some have indicated that rather than offering dramatic new ideas for savings, many lawmakers are championing longtime favourite proposals and urging the panel to avoid cutting certain programs. Google gliding by recession

Worries over another global recession haven't shaken Google. The online search and advertising leader's third-quarter earnings, released Thursday, are the latest reminder of how it has used its position as the Internet's dominant gateway to build a business that endures economic turbulence. Investors showed approval as Google's stock price surged six per cent. The stock climbed $33.37 to $592.36 in extended trading. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

RIM backs its delay

MATT DUNHAM/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ A camera woman films the offices of RIM, the makers of BlackBerry, in Slough, England, on Wednesday.

BlackBerry services returned to normal Thursday after four days of global outages, but the maker of the smartphone faces a new set of challenges as it tries to clean up a public-relations headache.

Research In Motion's two co-CEOs — Mike Lazaridis and Jim Balsillie — emerged from more than three days of silence to answer questions and apologize again about the biggest outage in the Canadian company's history.

RIM offered only a few updates while a growing number of BlackBerry users turned to their Facebook and Twitter accounts to express their frustrations.

The company has about 70 million BlackBerry subscribers worldwide, and while the technical glitches did not affect everyone, discontent spread fast.

RIM has now stepped into territory, commonly known as crisis management. Balsillie defended RIM's decision to wait until the problems were nearly fixed before coming out publicly in a bigger way. He said they will now address BlackBerry users.

That attitude may have worked in the past, but with the rise of social media, the urgency of major companies to address customers' concerns has reached a new level, say some observers. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

FOOTLOOSE! KICK OFF THE SUNDAY SHOES!

THE METRO LIST

NEIL MORTON
METRO

1 Footloose remake: Starting Friday, you gotta cut loose, footloose, kick off the Sunday shoes, because the remake of 1984's music drama Footloose is out. It's about a big-city kid who moves to a small town where rock music and dancing have been banned. So ... please, Louise, pull me off of my knees! Jack, get Mack, come on before we crack! Lose your blues, everybody cut footloose!

2 Save a high school: PCVS, a historic downtown high school in Peterborough, Ont., founded in 1827 that counts Lester B. Pearson, Sean Cullen, Serena Ryder and Jim Balsillie as alumni, is fighting through public protests, petitions and YouTube videos to keep its school alive after the local school board recommended that it close. Shutting down an inner-city arts school with culture and heritage will have a significant impact on the economy and fabric of a downtown in a small city. Forget Footloose, this is real-life drama.

3 Winnipeg Jets: Yes, the Jets are flying again after a 15-year hiatus, with a star-studded home opener against Montreal Sunday night that included our PM, George Stroumboulopoulos, and Jim Cuddy and Chantal Kreviazuk singing the national anthem. The Jets might have lost the game, but they won the nation over and their home crowd of 15,000, which gave them a thunderous ovation at game's end. Welcome back.

4 Ping pong hip: SPiN Toronto, a new 12,000-square-foot basement ping-pong bar in downtown T.O., had its grand opening this week. It's trying to mimic the success of one of the same name (which it's part of) in Manhattan, part owned by Susan Sarandon. SPiN is a place to drink, play ping-pong and socialize. Just watch: The next big fad will be pool tables in every basement in the world. Next to a beer fridge.

5 Ron MacLean's Cornered: The hockey broadcaster icon's new memoir, Cornered, went on sale this week, and offers inside accounts from his early days as a part-time radio announcer and weather forecaster in Red Deer, Alta., to his time hosting Hockey Night in Canada. Sounds promising, but they should have just called it Coach's Corner and let Don Cherry write the prologue and epilogue.

6 Rosie's new crush: Rose O'Donnell is back — four years after leaving The View and a decade since ending her successful daytime talk show — with The Rosie Show, which debuted this week on the Oprah Winfrey Network. Thankfully, it appears she's not resuscitating her infatuation with Tom Cruise. That's so '90s. Apparently her new boy crush is Russell Brand. That's more 2011.

7 Lee Harvey Oswald's lover: Judyth Vary Baker is making a rare public appearance next week in Toronto to mark what would be Oswald's 72nd birthday. Baker, author of Me & Lee: How I Came to Know, Love and Lose Lee Harvey Oswald, has been trying to clear Oswald's name. Her take: Lee was an undercover agent who had penetrated a ring determined to murder president Kennedy and was actually trying to prevent it but instead got framed. So, JFK conspiracy buffs, there you go.

Worth Mentioning

She's a 40-year-old mother of eight, with a ninth child due soon. The family homestead in a Burundi village is too small to provide enough food, and three of the children have quit school for lack of money.

"I regret to have made all those children," says Godelive Ndageramiwe.

At Ahmed Kasadha's prosperous farm in eastern Uganda, it's a different story.

"My father had 25 children — I have only 14 so far, and expect to produce more in the future," says Kasadha, who has two wives. He considers a large family a sign of success.

By the time Ndageramiwe's ninth child arrives, and any further members of the Kasadha clan, the world's population will have passed a momentous milestone. As of Oct. 31, according to the UN Population Fund, there will be seven billion people on Earth.

Experts say most of Africa — and other high-growth developing nations such as Afghanistan and Pakistan — will be hard-pressed to furnish enough food, water and jobs for their people.

Seattle superhero appears in court

A self-proclaimed superhero wore a charcoal-coloured mask Thursday as he entered a Seattle courtroom where prosecutors said they hadn't yet decided whether to file charges against him.

Phoenix Jones, whose real name is Benjamin John Francis Fodor, was arrested early Sunday after police say he pepper-sprayed four people who had left a nightclub. Fodor said he was trying to break up a fight when he was attacked. The club-goers insisted to police they hadn't been fighting.

Synopsis

- Ren (Kenny Wormald) is a big city kid forced by circumstance to move to the small town of Bomont, Ga., where dancing is outlawed. Ren, a former gymnast and dancing fool, challenges the law, butts heads with the local preacher (Dennis Quaid) and falls in love with the minister's daughter Ariel (Julianne Hough). Will the town lift the ban? Will the love birds ever get to break dance in public?

Country-fried fun

Footloose redux grittier than expected, with stars Kenny Wormald and Julianne Hough shining on the dance floor But in the end, it's still full of cheese

Richard: Mark, Footloose is grittier than you would imagine a movie starring Ryan Seacrest's girlfriend to be. The slickness normally associated with contemporary teen fare is mostly missing here, replaced with the steamy Southern feel that permeates director Craig Brewer's other films. You won't hear a line like, "You're sexier than socks on a rooster," in any of the Twilight movies.

Mark: Yes, Richard, the best thing about the movie is its authentic country-fried details. It doesn't condescend to its blue collar characters and that's to its credit. I thought the original was dated way back in the '80s. Now, in an Internet world, the town that banned dancing would have been ridiculed all over America and the American Civil Liberties Union would have filed suit immediately. And why did the town ban teen dancing when the real problem was teen drinking?

RC: Because then the movie would have to have been called Intervention, and that's a whole different story! Rebooting a well-loved classic is a tricky business. There are slight changes, Ren is now from Boston instead of Chicago, the tractor game of chicken from the original is now a bus race and the dancing has been updated but the upbeat rebellious core (and most of the songs) of the '84 movie is intact.

MB: Speaking of dancing, I wish there had been more of it. The first dance scene in the parking lot had nice energy, Kenny Wormald's solo when he dances off his anger in the warehouse was riveting, but then it takes a long time to get to the big finale, which I thought was a dud. The movie should have gone craaaaaaazzzzzy at that point, but everyone, including the choreographer, was on their best behaviour. And what did you think of the acting?

RC: I thought Wormald and Hough shone the brightest when they are in motion on the dance floor — which isn't often enough — but Miles Teller as Willard (played by Chris Penn in the original), Ren's dance-challenged best friend steals the show on and off the dance floor.

MB: You could not be more right. Teller has the looks and presence of a young John Cusack. And only Dennis Quaid could take the thankless preacher role and imbue it with a sense of humanity. But in the end, it's still a cheesy flick, even if this remake takes it from mild to medium cheddar.

The Thing
Genre: Horror
Director: Matthijs van Heijningen Jr.
Stars: Mary Elizabeth Winstead, Joel Edgerton
Classic sci-fi thriller The Thing gets its first makeover in nearly 30 years in this updated prequel about a replicating alien killing off stranded scientists in remote Antarctica. While the film delivers serviceable respect to John Carpenter's 1982 version with exemplary use of scenery, effects and a strong lead in Mary Elizabeth Winstead (Final Destination 3), the outcome is relatively predictable and the plot points somewhat transparent.

The Big Year
Genre: Comedy
Director: David Frankel
Stars: Jack Black, Steve Martin, Owen Wilson
●●●½
Take ambition, intrigue, passion, backstabbing, dastardly deeds and greed on a massive scale, add laughs, set it in the world of competitive bird watching and you have The Big Year. Audience faves Black, Martin and Wilson embark on the yearlong competition to score the most species sightings, in a strangely fascinating, insightful and funny road trip and gets added credit for having the guts regarding the whole bird watching thing. Frankel brings Marley-and-Me heart and The-Devil-Wears-Prada sass to this unexpected gem, based on Mark Obmascik's book.

Big Boi settles drug case, avoids jail time

DON ARNOLD/GETTY IMAGES

Grammy-winning OutKast rapper Big Boi has reached a deal on Florida drug charges that allows him to avoid jail time.

Big Boi appeared in a Miami courtroom Thursday as prosecutors outlined the deal that includes three months of drug testing, community service and $2,000 in donations to charities. The 36-year-old rapper's real name is Antwan Patton.

He was arrested getting off a cruise ship in August when a K-9 dog alerted to drugs Big Boi was carrying. The substances included ecstasy, a cigarette roller with marijuana residue and the ecstasy ingredient MDMA.

Big Boi had faced two felony drug charges. Prosecutors say if he remains drug-free after three months of testing, those charges will be dismissed.

The Atlanta-based group OutKast has won six Grammys and made six platinum-plus albums, including Speakerboxxx/The Love Below. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Walking Dead alive again

Apocalypse now: hit zombie show back for a second season on AMC

Just down the road from a tiny country church in rural Georgia, the apocalypse has already arrived.

A band of scrappy survivors is fighting the undead, camping in the woods in hopes of outrunning the hordes of zombies roaming the world. Few of them have made it, and at any moment they could be eaten alive and turned into one of the monsters that haunt them day and night.

It's just another day on the set of The Walking Dead, the hit AMC series that starts its second season Sunday with 13 horrifying new episodes.

Based on the popular comic book of the same name by writer Robert Kirkman, the show is about life after the zombie apocalypse.

5.3 M

The AMC drama drew more than 5.3 million viewers on its Halloween premiere last year, and got just as many viewers for the following week — not to mention sales of Robert Kirkman's award-winning graphic novel have steadily increased since the show was announced last year.

"The show is not about how gory we can make it," said co-executive producer Greg Nicotero, the show's special effects makeup guru who also directs this season.

"We want it to be shocking. We want to remind the audience of the world we're in — that world is brutal and savage and raw. But it's also about survival."

As always, the show follows the first rule of the zombie genre: No one on the show has ever heard of a zombie, calling them "walkers" instead.

They spend each episode learning the tricks of surviving the undead: avoiding loud noises that will draw their attention, using rotting carcasses to mask the smell of the living and finding creative new ways to kill the monsters stalking them.

Dead began six months of filming in and around Atlanta in June, boasting plots full of hair-raising new zombie encounters and heart-stopping action.

The first season — which was just six episodes — ended with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in Atlanta blowing up and leaving the group with little hope of finding a cure to the virus that creates the zombies. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

All swashbuckled up

The Three Musketeers return but this time in 3-D ‘The movie doesn’t take itself seriously,’ says co-star Orlando Bloom That explains the giant airship

ANTHONY JOHNSTON
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN LONDON

“All for one, and one for all!” — that ageless motto, evoking 17th century swashbuckling Frenchmen, sounds its familiar jingle yet again with the release of a new The Three Musketeers.

This time, however, we get “action fresh and modern for the younger audience,” according to director and co-producer Paul W.S. Anderson, the man behind the Resident Evil saga.

“I felt that every generation ought to get its own version of The Three Musketeers — one that reflects of that particular decade,” he says of the 1844 classic by Alexandre Dumas.

So in essence: a new cast, some peppy dialogue and novel visual effects — all in trending 3-D.

ROLF KONOW/SMPSP

Anderson’s “stellar ensemble cast” has some degree of critical acclaim: Logan Lerman, who leads as D’Artagnan, is coming-of-age in Hollywood, having appeared in Percy Jackson; the world-weary Musketeers are played by Matthew Macfadyen (Pride & Prejudice), Ray Stevenson (TV’s Rome) and Luke Evans (the upcoming Immortals); and Anderson’s wife and cult favourite Milla Jovovich is triple-agent Milady de Winter.

“I felt that every generation ought to get its own version of The Three Musketeers.”
DIRECTOR PAUL W.S. ANDERSON

Among the bad guys, Oscar-winner Christoph Waltz (Inglourious Basterds) plays the conniving Richelieu, and onetime A-lister Orlando Bloom appears as the dastardly Duke of Buckingham.

D’Artagnan and his buddy Musketeers must protect the King of France from those two maniacs.

“The movie doesn’t take itself seriously,” Bloom confesses. “This is a pop culture, tongue-in-cheek, irreverent, fun, ‘go buy a big bag of popcorn and take a trip’ version of the movie. It’s not a historically accurate retelling of The Three Musketeers that the novelist wrote.”

Bloom’s devious Duke, with his hyperreal pompadour coif and garish frill-necked outfits, seems an epitome of the movie’s self-caricature. Even the Musketeers prefer to guzzle booze than spruce themselves up for action.

“I don’t know why we didn’t get the theme music from [the ’80s cartoon] Dogtanian and the Three Muskehounds — instead we got [British pop stars] Take That,” Macfadyen jokes. “What’s more, I had a pang of jealousy for Orlando’s costumes.”

“All for one, and one for all — it does exactly what it says on the tin,” says Bloom, adding: “and it’s in 3D, and it has a gigantic airship.”

Heartthrob

On The Three Musketeers set, everyday was a bad hair day for Logan Lerman.

- “I was very conscious of those extensions,” says the 19-year-old from Beverly Hills about the tousled emo-meets-This is Spinal Tap mullet he wore for his latest movie adventure.
- “They were like little beads, melted on to five strands of hair one at a time. Honestly it felt like a beanie that you couldn’t take off,” says Lerman.
- Aside from questionable hairstyles, Lerman, one of Hollywood’s most in-demand young actors, keeps his heartthrob credentials current as D’Artagnan, the cocky farmer boy who swaps the countryside in exchange for sword-shaped slugfests with middle-aged men under the bright lights of Paris.
- In reality, the humble-at-heart Lerman prefers to distance himself from his on-screen persona. “I am not as confident as D’Artagnan, at least in his approach to romance,” he said.

Have you got talent? Martin Short wants to see you perform

Martin Short isn’t sure just what kind of judge he’ll be on the upcoming Canada’s Got Talent.

“I have no idea. I’ve never done anything like this before. Which is its appeal,” says the Emmy-winning actor, who was in Toronto Thursday to promote his participation in the TV talent competition.

“But I do know if you’re not yourself, it will just come off as hollow. I’m not there to play a role. I’m there to be me.”

The show — which begins filming auditions across Canada next week — features amateur entertainers of all kinds vying for fame and fortune.

It’s a spinoff of the successful British version that launched the career of Susan Boyle. An American version has also been successful.

Short — best known for his comic turns on SCTV and Saturday Night Live — says he was attracted by the show’s premise of discovering new performers.

“For so long, I’ve been asked why there are so many talented Canadians. Is it something in the water?” he says.

“The reality is — there are a lot of talented Canadians. And to see them at the start of their careers like this is very thrilling.”

Short says he’s been lucky in that he hasn’t had to audition much himself.

He says a stint in a celebrated Toronto production of Godspell in the early seventies really got his career rolling. Canada’s Got Talent will also provide Short with the opportunity to see parts of Canada he’s never seen before.

“Halifax I’m looking forward to. Surprisingly, I’ve never been to Halifax.”

Canada’s Got Talent premieres on Citytv in March.

SALUTE THE UNSUNG HEROES OF ROCK 'N' ROLL

SOUND CHECK

ALAN CROSS
SCENE
@METRONEWS.CA

If anyone asked you to list some of the great heroes of rock 'n' roll, you'd probably come back with names like Elvis, Lennon and Cobain.

All completely legitimate responses, yes. But here are some names that are also just as important to the history of rock — but in a different way.

George Beauchamp
Most people credit Les Paul with having something to do with the invention of the electric guitar — and he did. But the original props must go to Beauchamp, who invented an electrically-amplified guitar in 1931 and began selling models with the help of the Ro-Pat-In Corporation the following year.

The first documented performance featuring an electric guitar was in 1932 using one of Beauchamp's Electric Spanish models.

Hugh Le Caine
An atomic physicist by vocation, Le Caine ended up in Ottawa working with circuits that could tame electricity and turn it into sounds.

By the mid-'40s, he had constructed an apparatus that made music using a piano-style keyboard.

Very cool — but calling his invention The Electronic Sackbut wasn't a great marketing move.

GETTY IMAGES

▶ Though Jimi Hendrix used the foot pedal to perfection on his classic song Voodoo Chile, it should be noted that he did not invent the guitar apparatus. That distinction belongs to Del Casher.

Grady Martin
During a session in Nashville in 1960, Grady's guitar amplifier suffered a sort of meltdown.

Instead of sounding clean and pure, his guitar sounded fuzzy and distorted — but in a cool way. With the help of some engineers, Grady came up with a foot pedal that could summon this fuzziness on demand.

It became known as a "fuzz pedal" and gave guitarists a way to make their instrument sound powerful and menacing.

Del Casher
Not too long after Grady Martin discovered the power of fuzz, Del — who played guitar for everyone from Lawrence Welk to Frank Zappa — discovered a circuit made by the Thomas Organ Company called a midrange boost.

Fiddling with it produced the same sort of effect as a trumpeter or trombonist using a mute over the horn. Adapting it to a foot pedal, he gave one to Zappa who gave it to Jimi Hendrix.

He used it to great effect in Voodoo Chile in much the same way Eric Clapton featured it in Cream's White Room. Guitarists have been using wah-wah pedals ever since.

Jim Marshall
Marshall ran a music shop in London. When guitarists started demanding more powerful amplifiers, he started building them. Marshall Amplifiers are now standard dream gear for guitarists everywhere. Oh, and did I mention that Marshall was a drummer?

Kutcher expecting to see divorce papers

Demi Moore consulting with attorneys after cheating rumours surface

Ashton Kutcher is reportedly "expecting" Demi Moore to file for divorce after Sara Leal went public with details of her night with the Two and a Half Men star, according to Radar Online.

"Ashton is absolutely gutted. Ashton had confessed his sexual relationship with Sara to Demi after it happened," a source says.

"She's currently consulting with divorce attorneys. Ashton doesn't want her to file for divorce, and is hoping they can work it out. However, Ashton expects that Demi will likely file. Ashton was hoping that Sara wouldn't give any interviews about their sexual encounter, but now she's spilling all the seedy details and it doesn't help matters at all."

U.K.'s King of Queens problem

British Prime Minister David Cameron is working to change a law to ensure that if Prince William's first-born child is a girl, she can still be Queen, according to People magazine.

Currently, if William and Kate's first child is a daughter but their second is a son, the boy would inherit the throne.

"We espouse gender equality in all other aspects of life, and it is an anomaly that in the rules relating to the highest public officer we continue to enshrine male superiority," Cameron wrote in a statement.

Reynolds stirs up the Gossip with a new Girl

TESTING THE WATERS. Blake Lively and Ryan Reynolds are reportedly "trying out" dating now that both are single, according to Us Weekly.

Lively had previously travelled to Boston, where Reynolds is filming, and now Reynolds has returned the favour, visiting the Gossip Girl set in New York.

"They hugged and then got in a car together," a source says of the visit. "They became good friends on the set (of Green Lantern). Now they're both single and trying it out. They're seeing each other casually."

Garner to pop out another kid

MORE FUTURE AVERAGE ACTORS COMING Ben Affleck and Jennifer Garner are expecting their third child, and sources tell Life & Style that it will be their first boy.

Affleck is reportedly thrilled to have a "little sports buddy," the source says. "He can't wait to take his son to baseball games and play catch with him."

As for Garner, she "feels like she won't know what to do. She's close to her two sisters, and her instincts were spot-on with the girls. But she never had a brother and doesn't know the drill."

Swank claims ignorance

WE BELIEVE HER Hilary Swank is very, very sorry about attending a birthday party for Chechen president and accused human rights violator Ramzan Kadyrov earlier this month, according to the Associated Press.

"I deeply regret attending this event. If I had a full understanding of what this event was apparently intended to be, I would never have gone," Swank says in a statement.

The Oscar-winning actress claims the invitation was for a concert and made no reference to Kadyrov's birthday. Jean Claude Van Damme also attended the event.

Complement Chinese food

PETER ROCKWELL
LIQUIDASSETS@EASTLINK.CA
TWITTER: @THEREALWINEGUY

Even though it's been making wine since around 5,000 B.C., as a culture China's always been about the food, so its population never embraced the art of combing liquids and solids with the enthusiasm of their counterparts elsewhere.

Since Chinese food is a combo of sweet, sour and spicy, finding wines to work with everything on your plate is about as easy as keeping a straight face when someone tells you he or she likes the Charlie Sheen-less Three And A Half Men.

My pick is something soft with a touch of residual sweetness like a German riesling. Off-dry sparkling and rosé wines work, too.

If you want the hottest Asian food marriage, fill your glass with Moscato. Originally Italian, American upstarts like the non-vintage Barefoot Moscato ($7.99 - $11.99) take all the round, lightly-sweet fruit of the muscat grape and massage it into a perfectly plush, tropically-influenced (and not too boozy) companion for any Chinese menu.

Cook like the Quons

The family behind The Lingnan restaurant, and stars of the The Quon Dynasty, share their Black Bean Chicken recipe It's a fave at the eatery

Loved by its customers, the Lingnan restaurant in Edmonton is cosy and elegant but quaintly out of date. The Quon Dynasty follows the family's adventures through a realm power struggles, sibling rivalry and egg rolls.

Black Bean Chicken

This recipe has been popular at the Lingnan since the 1970s. The family makes its own black bean garlic sauce, but you can find it at any good Chinese grocery, and even at some regular supermarkets.

Black bean sauce is popular in Cantonese cooking. Try adding a teaspoon or two to your own stir-fries. And, if you enjoy this recipe, try substituting beef or shrimp for the chicken, or try different vegetable combos. Chinese cooking should be fun!

Preparation:

1. Blend together seasonings, except the 1 tbsp oil. Coat chicken with the seasonings; then, stir in the oil. Marinate at least 15 minutes.
2. Heat 3 tbsp oil in pan. Fry chicken until cooked. Strain and set aside.
3. Heat 2 tbsp oil. Add black bean sauce and onion. Stir-fry until it smells good (about 2 minutes). Add peppers, celery and carrots, and stir-fry until onions are soft. Add chicken and cooking wine. Mix well. Add in 1 tsp. sugar, ½ tbsp oyster sauce, white pepper and sesame oil. Pour in chicken stock. When sauce boils, thicken with cornstarch mixture. (1 tsp cornstarch and 1 tbsp water).

Colorado rookie Landeskog scores goal, adds assist as Avalanche bury Senators 7-1

ADRIAN WYLD/THE CANADIAN PRESS

▶ Craig Anderson looks over his shoulder as he is scored on during the third period on Thursday.

Gabriel Landeskog scored for the second straight night and the Colorado Avalanche embarrassed the Ottawa Senators with a 7-1 rout on Thursday night.

Joakim Lindstrom scored twice for Colorado (3-1-0), while Milan Hejduk and Matt Duchene each had a goal and an assist. Daniel Winnik and David Jones scored their first goals of the season for the Avalanche.

Landeskog, the second overall pick in this year's NHL draft, added an assist on Duchene's power-play goal. Ryan O'Reilly had three assists.

Avs goalie Jean-Sebastien Giguere faced just 16 shots in his first start of the season.

Milan Michalek scored the lone goal for the Senators (1-3-0), while Craig Anderson, playing his first game against his former team, faced 39 shots.

Ottawa got off to a great start, but things unravelled quickly.

The Senators took the lead for the first time this season on Michalek's power-play goal, but it was short-lived as the Avalanche tied it three minutes later on a power-play goal by Hejduk.

Colorado took the lead midway through the period as Landeskog, with his second of the season, beat Anderson from in close.

Vintage look

The Senators wore their heritage jerseys for the first time.

The Senators continued to struggle through the second, managing just four shots and didn't even register a single shot on the power play midway through the period.

With less than three minutes remaining Colorado made it 3-1 as a bad bounce ended up on Lindstrom's stick and behind Anderson before he had a chance to react.

The Senators' best chance came in the dying seconds of the period as Stephane Da Costa missed a wide open net.

Despite having played the previous night in Columbus the Avalanche showed no sign of fatigue, scoring a power-play and a short-handed goal to make it 5-1 before the third period was even five minutes old. Colorado added two more power-play goals to make it 7-1 late in the game. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Crosby takes 'big step' toward return

Sidney Crosby is one final step away from returning to the NHL.

The Pittsburgh Penguins captain shed the white no-contact helmet he has worn for nearly a month and was a full participant in a morning skate Thursday after being cleared to absorb hits in practice for the first time since sustaining a concussion in January.

Crosby still must show he can handle contact with no concussion-related problems before he can play in games but, after being symptom free for weeks, he admittedly is "excited" to be closer to returning.

"It's a good step in the right direction," said Crosby, sweat still pouring off his face following the half-hour practice. "It's a big step ... we'll see how things go."

The Nova Scotia native didn't throw any checks or accept any as the Penguins mostly skated and went through shooting drills in advance of Thursday's game against the Washington Capitals. Still, Crosby said he won't be reluctant to instigate contact when he does practice.

GENE J. PUSKAR/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ Crosby

Penguins coach Dan Bylsma said there is no firm timetable for Crosby's return to games. Neither Bylsma nor Crosby dropped any hints whether it might be mere days or a few weeks.

"But I don't think it's hard to be patient at this point," said the 24-year-old Crosby. "I'm getting closer and I want to make sure I respond well in the next however long it is."

Crosby must show he can handle any and all contact without a recurrence of any of his previously suffered symptoms, such as headaches, dizziness, an inability to concentrate, sensitivity to loud noises or bright lights.

THE CANADIAN PRESS

Practice shortage

Sidney Crosby can now take part in every phase of practice, but the Penguins aren't practising much.

- They're beginning the season by playing six games in 10 days and eight in 13 days.
- Coach Dan Bylsma might have to create some contact-heavy drills especially for Crosby, who said no drill can replicate what occurs in a game.

Today's horoscope

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to metronews.ca

♈ Aries March 21-April 20 Confront whatever it is you fear most and find ways to overcome it.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 Tempers could be on the short side over the next 24 hours, especially if people keep changing their plans.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 Don't waste your energy on someone who seems determined to give you a hard time. Let him or her go.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 Just because you see things clearly does not mean others do. There will be times today when it seems as if the whole world is blind. Enlighten it.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug.23 Not everything will go your way today but overall the forecast is good, so ignore the little negative things.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 Even if you are the rare Virgo who likes surprises, what happens today won't meet your approval.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 It's good that you're the forgiving sort because someone will try your patience today. Use humour to deal.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 There will be a string of disruptions today but you won't be as inconvenienced as some people.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 Keep your schedule flexible as unexpected developments will throw everything off course.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 You will discover something new about a friend today. It may shock you but you will also be impressed.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 Expect a few surprises today. If your keep your wits about you, they'll be turned in your favour.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20. Hold on to your purse because cash has a way of slipping through your fingers. SALLY BROMPTON
